

Research Ethics/Responsible Conduct of Research Workshop

CLEMSON
UNIVERSITY
OFFICE OF RESEARCH COMPLIANCE

Rutland INSTITUTE FOR ETHICS
CLEMSON
bringing ethics into focus

SPACE IS LIMITED!!
REGISTER TODAY!
<http://www.clemson.edu/orc/>

Michelin Career Center Conference Room (3rd Floor Hendrix Student Center)

Tuesday, June 5, 2012 • 8:30AM-4:30PM

Registration/light refreshments begins at 8:30AM, with the program beginning at 9:00AM**

Workshop Facilitators: Julia Frugoli (Rutland Institute Fellow/Associate Professor, Genetics and Biochemistry), Chip Hood (General Counsel), Renee Roux (Associate General Counsel), Kelly Smith (C. Calhoun Lemon Fellow/Associate Professor, Philosophy-Biological Sciences), Charles Starkey (Rutland Institute Fellow/Associate Professor, Philosophy), Daniel E. Wueste (Director/Professor, Philosophy)

The purpose of the workshop is to equip participants to deal with ethical issues in research practice and to teach others how to deal with them. We'll focus on how ethical research practice/responsible conduct of research is linked to but not reducible to compliance with legal requirements and/or the specific requirements of a grant, and the sense in which norms of ethical practice are internal to the practice of research. We will also explore the links between the principles of research practice and basic ethical considerations. We will do these things in a very user-friendly way that emphasizes engagement, in case-based discussion as well as the presentation of basic materials. To register, visit <http://www.clemson.edu/orc/>